Chieko Hara <SUMI Japanese ink artist>

~Everything is connected and it draws slowly a spiral~
Painter, illustrator, dancer - Working around Tokyo as an expressive artist without boundaries

In 2018, in a rapidly changing world, I encountered freestyle Japanese calligraphy. I was fascinated by the simple world of SUMI ink and brush and its depth, and began to express in SUMI ink. (SUMI ink painting, calligraphy, SUMI ink art drawing, handwriting logotype design, etc.)

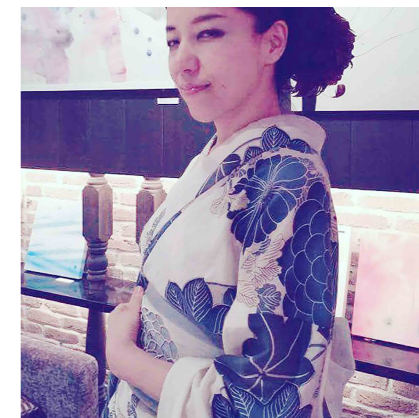

Under the name Chieko Hara (chienoix), I have expressed my experience through illustration, dance, Qigong Tai Chi, and performing arts. I now refocus on the infinite possibilities of the lines that are born from my own breathing, and are in my core. It connects the world to a higher and deeper place; unravels the history of ink and brush strokes at its own current tempo; crosses traditions and modernism, bridges the West and the East; expresses the sacred customs; and, deepens the boundaries of expression. I want them to take shape and to realize them one by one.
